ACT I

Vocal Ensemble

Papa Loko               Traditional Haitian Arr. by Sten Kallman

Papa Loko, you are the wind. Carry Us!
We are butterflies.
We are bringing the news to Agwe (the spirit of the sea).

And my eyes have seen everything that is good.
And my eyes have seen everything that is bad.

The message comes from above, from Papa Loko: we are the wind.

Butterflies, the road is long, but we will bring the news

Canon        By J.S. Bach   Arr. by Ward Swingle

Furusato (Homeland)       Japanese Folk Song By Philip Lawson

The mountains where I once ran after hares,
The streams where I often went fishing;
I still dream of there now and then.
I can never forget my home country.

How have my father and mother been?
How are my friends getting along?
Even when it is raining or windy
I still cherish the memories of my home country.

When I have achieved my ambitions
I want to return home some day.
My home country, where the mountains are blue;
My home country, where the water is clear.

Do not dare I say it,  I will tell you now,
There’s a man, lives in our village, Who is jealous of his wife,
He’s not jealous without reason, for he is not a handsome man!
As she leaves to go to market, he will follow by her side and dare, do not dare, do not dare I say it,
I will tell you now, and I will tell you now!

The Conor Lynch Foundation is dedicated to honor Conor, a 16 year old who lost his life on October 19, 2010, crossing Woodman Ave., in Sherman Oaks, CA, while training with his cross country team.

Through fundraisers and events, money donated to the Conor Lynch Foundation is used to support new and existing programs that raise awareness and promote the safety of runners, pedestrians, cyclists and young drivers, to ensure that no family suffers a loss of this kind ever again.

There is an annual 5k run/walk that takes place in October. Check out the foundation website www.inhonorofconor.org or download the app for more information.
